

Merry Christmas

A while back I noticed something precious, at least from my point of view of the word, "Christmas". I know the history is of Christ's Mass and all, but, and if, you would entertain a combined TexMex transliteration of sorts of English and Spanish. Christ and mas almost sound like a TexMex phrase (Haja). Perhaps Christmas is our Heavenly Father telling us we need More Christ or Más Cristo as "más" means "more" in Spanish.

And that is what everyone on earth needs: More Christ!

We continue on to 2025 giving much more of Christ Jesus to this lost and dying world, and we pray, with each and every one of you! Gracias!
